BY WAY OF INTRODUCTION

IT is now over seven years since a beginning was made with the building of the First Garden City at Letchworth, and the town that has arisen in those seven years has done much to fulfil the hopes of those who founded it that it would be a place good to live in. The foresight and care which were taken in laying out the town, and the thorough and business-like methods of development, which at the same time were not careless of æsthetic considerations, have, even in this early stage, created a town with business facilities and social activities that make it attractive to all classes of people, together with something of beauty that increases with the passing of time. The pictures in this little book give some idea of Letchworth as it is to-day; they will show that its name of the Town in the Country is more than justified; and they will, it is hoped, bring many people to see for themselves what the town is like.

November 1911

“ Never seen it ? ” says he. “ Then you have never seen one of the finest sights in the whole world. ”

“ THE CONNOISSEUR. ”

It is the garden of England for delight; and men commonly say, that such who buy a house in Hertfordshire pay two years' purchase for the air thereof. ”

THOMAS FULLER.

LETCHWORTH GARDEN CITY is in Hertfordshire, thirty-four miles from London by the Great Northern Railway. The estate is nearly four thousand acres in extent, and on about one third of that area the town is being built, the greater part of it being retained round the town as rural and park land. The Company keeps in its own hands, so far as possible, the freehold of the land in the interests of the future community; building leases are granted for 99 or 999 years.

*Oh! London Town's a fine town, and London sights are rare,
And London ale is right ale, and brisk's the London air,
And busily goes the world there, but crafty grows the mind,
And London Town of all towns, I'm glad to leave behind.*

JOHN MASEFIELD.

I. LETCHWORTH HOUSES AND GARDENS

Villas along the roadside, so tastefully contrived for comfort and beauty, and adorned more and more, year after year, with the care and afterthought of people who mean to live in them a great while, and feel as if their children might live in them also.

II. SOME LETCHWORTH COTTAGES

When one is at home, how one's affections grow about everything in the neighbourhood Beginning with my house, every stick and stone of it is dear to me as my heart's blood; I find myself laying an affectionate hand on the door post, giving a pat, as I go by, to the garden gate.

THE PRIVATE PAPERS OF HENRY RYECROFT.

COTTAGES NEAR THE STATION

Cottage building has always received considerable attention at Letchworth; and nowhere, perhaps, are there so many excellently built and planned small residential cottages and, particularly, such good cottages for the working classes.

The house in which she lives is for the orderly soul only an expansion of the body; as the body, according to the philosophy of Swedenborg, is but a process, an expansion, of the soul.

In a new town good street views are difficult to obtain, and it says much for the way in which Letchworth is being built that the unfinished and bare appearance which belongs to new places has already disappeared.

VI. THE CHILDREN AND SPORTS

*The sun does arise,
And make happy the skies;
The merry bells ring
To welcome the spring;
The sky-lark and thrush,
The birds of the bush,
Sing louder around
To the bells' joyful sound,
While our sports shall be seen
On the echoing green.*

Sports at Letchworth are, as might be expected, a feature of the place. The Golf Course of 18 holes is one of the cheapest & most picturesque courses in the South of England. There are also Cricket, Tennis, Bowling, Football and Hockey Clubs with excellent grounds.

VII. FACTORIES, ETC.

SECRET

A LETCHWORTH FACTORY

Letchworth is a business as well as a residential town. One object of the promoters is to bring industries from crowded towns to a centre where roomy factories can be built and the workers can live under healthy conditions near to their work. The works are to a large extent located in a quarter specially suited to them to the north-east of the town, and thus do not, nor ever can, present any objectionable features to the residential area. The factories are some of the finest in the country, and among the firms represented are : Messrs W. H. Smith & Son's Bookbinding Works, the Arden Press, J. M. Dent & Sons Ltd, the Lacre Motor Car Co. Ltd, the Phœnix Motors Ltd, the Heatly-Gresham Engineering Co. Ltd, Hayes Printing Developments Ltd, Ewart & Son Ltd, Woodworkers Ltd, and the Country Gentlemen's Association Ltd.

ANOTHER FACTORY VIEW

FIRST Garden City has its own Gas, Water & Electricity Works, under the control of the Company.

Water. There is an excellent supply of water, the charges being calculated at 6 to 7½ per cent on the assessment, for domestic supply, and by meter for factories.

Gas. The Gas Works is one of the most up-to-date in the country, the rate being 3s. net per 1000 for lighting (including meter and stove hire).

Electricity. The Electric Power Station has recently been considerably enlarged to meet the increasing demand for power and lighting in the centre of the town.

Drainage. All the roads in the town are sewered; the sanitary conditions are thoroughly satisfactory.

Railway Facilities. Letchworth Station is on the G.N.R. 34 miles from King's X. The existing temporary station is about to be replaced by a large permanent station. The train service is good and is being steadily improved: London (King's X) being reached under one hour. Cheap day and half-day return tickets (3s. 3d. & 3s. 9d.) are issued daily between King's X and Letchworth, each way. The Midland Railway have an important junction at Hitchin.

A FINAL WORD TO THE READER

THIS little book will have given you some idea of the extent of the undertaking of First Garden City Ltd at Letchworth. If you were under the impression that it consisted of a group of cheap and cranky cottages, we hope you have now been enlightened. Letchworth is the most far-reaching example of complete town planning in this country. It is the centre to which the attention of all interested in modern town-building is directed; but it is not a show place, it is a place for people to live in.

If you approve of the work of the Company, you should, at least, take up a few shares and so assist in this great national undertaking. The shares are £5 each, and are entitled to a cumulative dividend of five per cent.
